

CLAIMS

1. A personal wireless communication device, comprising:
 - a microphone for sound pickup;
 - a directional speaker for sound output; and
 - a communication module operatively connected to said microphone and said directional speaker, said communication module supporting two-way communications over a wireless channel between said personal wireless communication device and another communication device.